

Forensic Readiness

While you might be familiar with forensic investigations that are performed after an incident or event occurs, did you know that there is a mirror of this process called Forensic Readiness (aka Litigation Readiness)?

Forensic Readiness in the digital domain involves preparing your data and processes so that potential future investigations can be performed much more efficiently and effectively.